

The truth is we're struggling.

Adjusting to life with a new baby can take its toll on all aspects of your life. Mental health problems are common and need to be recognised and treated.

Seeking help early is best for you and your family.

Visit cope.org.au

COPE
Centre of Perinatal Excellence

